DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to because Figures 1, 2, 6 and 7 include unlabeled boxes/elements where the function(s) or operation(s) are unclear. Appropriate legends would aid in a better understanding of the subject matter illustrated in these figures and are required in accordance with 37 C.F.R. § 1.84(o). Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 C.F.R. § 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as “amended.” If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either “Replacement Sheet” or “New Sheet” pursuant to 37 C.F.R. § 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 101

2. 35 U.S.C. § 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

3. Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

The invention defined in claim 13 does not fall into one of the statutory categories of invention, that is, it is not a process, machine, manufacture or composition of matter. While claim language indicates that it is a "product", none of the claim language defines any physical elements or characteristics of this "product" so that it is not clearly a manufacture. Instead, the claim appears to be directed towards a computer program, per se, which is, in and of itself, not a process, a machine or a manufacture. Therefore, the invention, as stipulated by claim 13, does not fall into one of the statutory categories of invention, and is therefore non-statutory. It is suggested that amending the claim to clearly stipulate that the invention defined therein encompasses both the computer program and a physical storage medium in which the program is embodied or stored would properly define the invention as a manufacture.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1-12 are allowed.

5. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: None of the prior art teaches or suggests identifying regions of a structure in a data set that comprise high frequency signals and performing a sampling along a trajectory intersecting the region comprising the high frequency signals, resulting in a sampled structure, as variously defined by the claimed invention.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Jones et al., Lin et al. and Lau were variously cited in the International Search Report and are therefore made of record during this national stage application. Levin et al., Mertelmeier et al. and Snyder et al. each teaches sampling high frequency regions at a higher sampling rate than lower frequency regions, but none teaches sampling along a trajectory that intersects a high frequency region identified in the data set, as claimed.
